Bomb defused in Frankfurt press

FRANKFURT, May 8 (R)-Police today defused a home-made time bomb found outside a Turkish printing plant where the London Times vainly tried to print an overseas edition 10 days ago. The shrapnet-type bomb, consisting of 300 grammes of explosive and granite chips, was deposited in a plastic bag at the entrance to the Ter printing works in Zeppelinheim. The bomb was fitted with an electric fuso timed to detonate today. If it had exploded it would have caused considerable damage. The discovery of the bomb coincided with a debate in the Hessen state parliament over the attempt to publish an overseas edition of the Times on April 28-29. On that weekend the printing plant was picketed by German printers who said they were determined to stop the Times from printing. The Times later managed to print 2,000 copies at another press, which was not identified. The German printers' union speculated that they were run off in

FEZ. Morocco, May 8 (R)--An Organisation (PLO), Saudi Islamic conference began here today amid angry charges from Egypt that it has been wrongfully excluded from the meeting.

Officials said a special envoy from the conference secretariat, Mr. Youssef Sella, was sent to Cairo at the weekend to tell the Egyptians that a motion calling for Egypt's suspension would be presented to the five-day meeting.

(The foreign ministry said nothing in the constitution of the 43-member organisation permitted it to suspend a country.)

Lebanon should be resettled in other Arab countries. "Everyone knows that Israel is the cause of the Palestinians' tragedy through their displacement from their land," he told reporters. "Any solution for this crisis which does not provide for a just solution of the Palestinian people's case through ensuring their legitimate national rights cannot serve as a proper Middle East settlement. Dr. Hoss also rejected a demand by Mr. Begin that the 30,000-strong Arab Deterrent Force (ADF) must leave Lebanon. He said: "Israel has nothing to do with the presence of the ADF...This force will remain in Lebanon as along as needed, and Lebanon is still in need of it."

The future of the force, which intervened to end a 19-month civil war in October, 1976, is expected to be discussed during a meeting between Lebanese President Elias Sarkis and Syrian President Hafez Al Assad in Damascus next week. Dr. Hoss last night condemned

The English-language Beirut daily lke summed up Lebanese reaction to the Israeli leader's speech with a cartoon today. It depicted Mr. Begin manning a field gun on the Lebanese border and inscribing a shell with the words: "Make love, not war."

The Syrian government newspaper Tishrin said the offer was the beginning of an Israeli-Egyptian conspiracy to undermine Arab opposition to their peace treaty.

As war-weary residents of Lebanon braced themselves for further air strikes, the U.N. Security Council was due to hold private talks on a Lebanese government request to give more power to a 6,000-strong U.N. force (UNIFIL) in the volatile border region near Israel.

The force is charged with helping the government to restore its authority in the area, but it has been firmly resisted by Israelibacked militias which control a strategic belt of territory along the border.

In a letter to the council president. Lebanese Ambassador Ghassan Tueni said the time had come for UNIFIL to be given the means to fulfil its mission with force and confidence.

ANKARA, May 8 (R)--A special envoy of President Carter left today after inconclusive talks with government officials on the future of U.S. bases in Turkey. Turkish Premier Bulent Ecevit said after meeting the envoy.

Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher, that the U.S. had still not responded to Turkish demands for the continued use of the bases--including economic and military conditions. Mr. Christopher had four hours of hard bargaining with the Turkish premier after flying in last night. A further hour of unscheduled talks today appeared to reflect disagreement over the Turkish demands. President Carter, who sent a special message to the Turkish premier through Mr. Christopher, is anxious to obtain a solid agreement on the U.S. bases, including the setting up of two sophisticated scanning stations, to encourage Congress to approve the SALT II accord with the Russians. Mr. Ecevit gave no details today of Turkey's conditions for full reopening of the U.S. bases. But he said earlier Turkey expects more U.S. help in overcoming its desperate economic plight. He said President Carter's message to him promised that the U.S. would do everything in its power to speed up international economic aid, being worked out by the Organisation of Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD.)

Turkish sources said the Ankara government was, in addition to economic assistance, demanding a five-year U.S. commitment to provide the Turkish armed forces with military materials to increase their defence capabilities within NATO.

The plot thickens

THE ISRAELI strategy for annexation and domination of the Arab lands surrounding the putative state of Israel becomes clearer every day. That strategy has, of course, received just the boost it needed from the "peace" treaty with Egypt, which had the calculated effect of subduing and neutralising Israel's western flank and depriving the Arab common front of its vital Egyptian element.

Having thus secured the surrender of Egypt, the American-Israeli strategy (for that can only be what it is) now moves on to its next phase, in feeble, disintegrating Lebanon. While his planes blast to bits civilian targets in Palestinian areas of Lebanon. Mr. Begin extends an "olive branch of peace" to a Lebanese government singularly lacking in authority over its own territory.

Nothing is concealed in this Israeli stratagem: Mr. Begin specifies that the only solution to the Palestinian "problem" is to transport all the Palestinians in Lebanon to Saudi Arabia. Syria, Iraq and Libya, where they can be settled and looked after by their oil-rich Arab brethren. This monstrous scheme dovetails nicely with the plot to grant "autonomy" to the Palestinians living in the territories of the West Bank and Gaza, where Israel plans to remain in military occupation. It also promotes one of the aims of the entire Camp David plan: that of exporting Palestinian nationalism across the length and breadth of the Arab World in order to "destabilise" the Arab oilproducing countries whose petroleum resources the industrialised world seeks to control.

Lest the import of all this be lost on anyone, let us recap: "peace" with Egypt has permitted the Israelis to go after the Palestinians in Lebanon: the world has sat idly by while Nobel peace laureate Begin has reconstituted his aggression against Lebanese territory, carving out a ministate there under a renegade Lebanese army officer who has brought southern Lebanon into the Israeli sphere of influence. Now a "peace offer" is extended to Lebanon, in hopes of subduing that front in order to go after Syria (and, with it, Iraq). Meanwhile, the provision of "Palestinian autonomy" in the West Bank, even while Jewish settlements are dramatically increased there, is meant to perpetuate and strengthen the Israeli hold on the occupied territories, whence Israel can have a go at Jordan.

If the plan were to work, Israel would achieve its ultimate aim of "regaining" the part of eastern Palestine of which it feels it has been deprived, and of building a Jewish state from the Nile to the Euphrates.

Such a concept used to be regarded as a fantasy. It is increasingly clear how Israel, fortified by the gains it has won thanks to Camp David, intends to make it a reality.

ARAB PRESS COMMENTARY

AL &A'I TUESDAY lashes out at the Secretary General of the Lebanese National Liberal Party (NLP) Mr. Dory Chamoun, for threatening to declare an independent state in Mount Lebanon, and notes that Chamoun's threats coincide with the continuing Israeli attacks on south Lebanon.

The paper also attacks Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin's invitation to Lebanese President Elias Sarkis to meet with him to sign a peace treaty. The paper says that this invitation is timed to coincide with the escalation of military operations by the Israeli army and with dubious moves by Israeli agents in Mount

The paper further says that in view of the current situation, Lebanon has two options before it: either to submit to Israeli's will and "commit suicide in Begin's way," or to overcome its worries and "superficial problems" and unite with Syria.

Stressing that Lebanon is passing through a critical phase, the paper calls on the Lebanese authorities to "make a historic decision before it is too late."

Commenting on the same subject. AL DUSTOUR says that Israel's aggressions on South Lebanon, the rebellion of Saad Haddad, and the threat by Dory Chamoun to establish an independent state in Mount Lebanon are all means of wielding pressure on Lebanon to force it to sign a separate peace treaty with Israel as Egypt had done.

Affirming that Chamoun's threats coincide with Begin's threats against Syria, the Palestinians and Lebanon, the paper says it is evident that the Camp David formula is now being brutally applied to Lebanon.

The paper adds that Israel is now betting on what it calls the "time factor", and is preparing to deal a blow to the Arab states before they have a chance to build up their strength.

Stressing that the U.S. and the United Nations are both aware of the Israeli plans, the paper inquires whether the U.N., the Soviet Union, the EEC and the Islamic states will stand idly by, or will they do something to restrain Israel?

The politicisation of water

By Jawad Ahmad

A CURSORY glance at newspapers these days is sufficient to reveal an abundance of interesting developments. Of particular interest is a decision by a U.S. Senate committee to deny Jordan a $38 million loan to finance part of the construction of the Magarin Dam on the Yarmouk River.*

It is a well-known fact that water shortage is a major constriant in Jordan right now. The problem is viewed with caution because of the 5-year drought which hit Jordan, during 1974-79. This arrought was also accompanied by major shifts in the demand for water created by such factors as urbanisation, industrialisation, the expansion in irrigated agricultural lands and, last but not least, the increase in housing construction. Future demand may not be as brisk as some expectations would make it out to be. Water supply and demand curves are hyperbolic, but this trend may not continue in the future.

Yet, despite these qualifying facts, there is no denial that the availability of water is a potential constraint in the future. Major water supply projects must be contemplated seriously. Fortunately, this is what the government of Jordan is

One possible major project is the desalination of sea water in Aqaba. This is not easily tenable right now, but such a plan can be implemented if other cheaper and more feasible possibilities do

Another alternative is discovering new water resources. This might not be an easy solution because digging up new water sources is a gamble--yet it is certainly worth the effort.

A third possibility is to draw water from rivers flowing into Jordanian territory. The most important of these is the Yarmouk River. This river is of concern to Jordan, Syria and Israel. With such an arrangement, the issue has become politicised. All three parties claim to need the water.

As far as Jordan and Syria are concerned, they view Israel's need for water as overinflated. Israel has already taken more than its fair share of the waters of the Jordan River, to the extent that ecological problems are cropping up and the waterlevel has dropped to hazardous levels. But the facts of life being what they are, this is not receiving the attention it deserves.

Assuring that one of the two countries, purely for the sake of the argument, reaches some sort of understanding with Israel over water rights, Hismay not be appealing to the other Arab party. Thus the dispute would be transformed from an Arab-Israeli one to an inter-Arab-one.

In the light of this, the American decision nor all give the loan to Jordan's Marketin Dam project of comes as a surprise. It just cannot be easily interestrated. A cloud of doubt is east over American intentions simply because of the difference in the position of Jordan and the United States on the current peace initiative. Yet, one wonders about a the direction of American policy in the Middle East; is it headed towards reconciliation or wiffine

If one is to be charitable in his assessment of American econopolitics, then one might assume that the U.S. is waiting for the three parties con cerned to reach an agreement over the use of water resources before it begins to assign money the project.

As far as Jordan is concerned; the money is not a serious problem, particularly in the case of this vital project. But extending the lean world and the cate tacit U.S. approval of the project within the supposedly even handed policy of the United States in this area.

The Magazin Dam is a vital and important proficet. The right of Jordan to use its flatural. resources is unquestionable. If the US grade resents mixing human needs with policies as in the case of oil), then water in particular should not be used to extract political concessions. Unfor tunately, even water is being politicised.

*EDITOR'S NOTE: As reported in the Jordan Times yesterday, the U.S. Congress has son set acred on the $38 million second instalment of a USAID loan for the Magarin Dam, alliques the $50 million first instablient, originally engineted, for 1979 but delayed for technical reasons had been agreed and is in the pipeline. He accuses the Israeli Ministry of Interior and other government agencies of putting the financial squeeze on his municipality as a result of their displeasure at the victory of the Democratic Front in the municipal polls and as part of the prevalent bias against Arab towns in Israel.

The following information will 4. Even with such a meagre help us understand the difficult circumstances of the municipality and their causes:

1- The ordinary budget of the municipality is small and unrealis-

a. The average budget of municipalities in Israel for the year 1978/1979 was about 6,000 Israeli pounds (IL) per capita. In Nazareth this was about IL 1,800-1,900 per capita. In fact the true figure; that is, the unofficial figure, is only IL 1,500, which is only 25 per cent of the average for the country.

b. The ordinary approved budget for Nazareth Municipality can be compared with that of other municipalities as follows:

budget, several ministries delay their payments to the municipality, forcing it to take loans and to pay a high interest rate which in some cases reaches 75

5. Loans in dollars and in Israeli pounds are given to all municipalities in Israel except Nazareth. We have noticed how municipalities obtain loans to solve their financial problems which result from inflation and high wages. But we regret to say that the Nazareth Municipality cannot obtain such loans.

6. Over drafts: According to the law, each municipality has the Safad or Karmel are examined. 5 per cent more than its budget. the bias against Nazareth becomes amply clear.

c. Development budget year for 1978/79: The development budget for Nazareth for this year is only IL 6.5 million. This is of course a very low and humiliating budget compared with other development budgets of smaller towns. In those towns the development budgets of smaller towns. In those towns the development budgets are ten times as much as ours. It may be recalled that until Feb. 22, 1979 we had not received even one pound from the development

2. Usually we prepare the budget on the basis of our experience of expenditures or revenues. However, during the past few years the Israeli Interior Ministry has followed a policy in which it raised the revenues in an unrealistic manner and reduced spending in order to reduce the deficit in the budget which would otherwise have to be met by grants from the government. The unrealistic increase in revenues in 77/78 was about IL 12 million. This year it reached about IL 15 million.

3. Municipal taxes in Nazareth account for about 20 per cent of the budget, which is one of the highest ratios in the country. While the general or arnunah tax in Nazareth is about 12 per cent, in Tiberias, for example, it is 4 per cent, despite the fact that in Nazareth there are no sources of revenue such as factories and workshops. The town's area is very limited and a large part of the land under municipal control is the property of churches and religious endowments (awqaf) which are legally exempt from paying taxes.

If the budgets for 'Affulah, right to draw from the banks up to There are several municipalities which exceed this 5 per cent limit (Haifa overdrew by about IL 40 million. It owes the banks about IL 130 million). Nazareth Municipality has the right to an overdraft of IL 4.25 million but in practice its overdraft do not exceed IL 800,000 because banks do not give us more. We maintain that this is not accidental. Banks seem to be instructed to follow such a policy to create difficulties for the municipality. The budget and financial affairs of Nazareth municipality reflect injustice and prejudices in numerous fields

7. Tax Collection: The ratio of colthe previous year whether interms, lected taxes is not only one of the greatest in the country but is also very high compared to our expectations. This ratio however is trimmed because officials at the Ministry of Interior report to the Ministry of Interior so many unrealistic figures. Below are some figures:

FAO meet studies uses of rainfed agriculture techniques in region

By Lee S. Tesdell Special to the Jordan Times

AMMAN, May 8 -- "Up-to-date information from all over the world" is being presented at the FAO Regional Seminar on Rainfed Agriculture in the Near East, according to one of its organisers, Mr. Abdullah Arar. He told the Jordan Times that the papers contributed by the participants are "to show what each country is doing in this field."

The conference, meeting for six days at the University of Jordan gymnasium, is hearing and discussing papers on topics ranging from crop production, farming systems, soil and water conservation and rangeland management to socio-economic factors involved in improving agricultural production in the region. Because water, or the lack of it, is the most important factor in agriculture in the Near East, the seminar's subject is vital. Rainfed agriculture refers to agriculture using land which is not irrigated and therefore is dependent on rain. Mr. Arar, who is based in Cairo and is an expert on land and water development for FAO (Food and Agriculture Organisation of the United Nations), stressed that countries of the Near East can use agricultural technology and techniques developed outside the region, but must come up with their own ways to utilise the technology. He said that at the conference, we are emphasising very much that government policy with the power of implementation be enacted to alleviate the disparity between the standard of life enjoyed by people in high rainfall areas and those in low rainfall areas:" The pricing policy for agricultural products must be regulated so that farmers can afford to use proper land and water management practices. For instance, food reserves should be kept available for livestock rather than overgrazing being allowed to take place.

Another participant in the conference, who didn't want to be named, said that in developing countries planners separate the technological side of agricultural development from the social side. It is, unfortunately, an attitude generated in academic circles in the West, he continued, and has been transmitted to the Near East by graduates of western uni-

An illustration of the importance of considering socioeconomic factors when planning agricultural development was given by another conference participant, who noted that a recent housing scheme for farmers in a Middle Eastern country failed completely because the people had not been involved in the design of the housing. The families refused to live in the housing which had been built for them by the government. Provision for privacy, space for farmyards and the arrangement of the housing all met with disapproval by the peo-

If proper management techniques are used, Mr. Arar said, 100 millimetres of rain annually is enough to support rangeland. Up to 90 per cent of winter rain is not conserved, it runs off and is lost to agriculture in our region, he said. With planned water distribution and other conservation measures, the loss can be reduced considerably, he continued.

The conference participants plan to make a field trip on Wednesday morning. In the afternoon they will resume their presentation of papers. The conference ends at noon on Thursday.

Another three-day conference sponsored by FAO, to begin on May 12, will examine land and water use in the Near East. Mr. Arar said that the present conference will pass recommendations on to the following conference for their con-

Participants in the current conference are from Jordan, Syria, Iraq, Lebanon, Cyprus, Algeria, India, Botswana, Libya and several western countries.

Manchester United beats Wolverhampton

LONDON, May 8 (R) -- England International Steve Coppell grabbed a late winner for Manchester United in their English First Division soccer match against Wolverhampton yesterday. After falling behind to a sixth-minute Steve Daley goal, United, who meet Arsenal in the English Football Association cup final on Saturday, fought back with goals by Andy Ritchie and Coppell. Wolverhampton looked as if they would salvage a point when John Richards equalised in the 76th minute, but Coppell's 86th minute goal dashed their bopes. In the day's only other First Division match, Alan Buckley scored twice to help Birmingham City to a 3-1 win over Queen's Park Rangers - their first away win in the league this season. Both clubs are already doomed to

Seattle Mariners whip N.Y. Yankees 12-4

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP) -- The lowly Seattle Mariners continued to torment the New York Yankees last night, beating the 1977 and 1978 world champions 12-4. Dan Meyer drove in club-record seven runs, including a tie-breaking grand-slam homer in the fifth inning. It gave the Mariners a 4-0 record against the Yankees this season and 13-12 in the three-year history of the expansion franchise. Seattle, last in the American League's Western Division, is 6-19 against the rest of the league this season,

Meyer, who entered the game with a 219 batting average, two homers and six runs-batted-in in 22 contests, rapped a runscoring single and sacrifice fly off starter Luis Tiant in the first and third innings and then slammed the first grand slam of his career, off losing pitcher Paul Mirabella. Meyer's seventh RBI came on a bases-loaded walk off Ken Clay in Seattle's four-run eighth inning. It broke the club record of six set last year by Leon Roberts, who delivered a pinch double in the fifth to help set the stage for Meyer, and a homer in the ninth. In other American League action, Butch Hobson's three-run double keyed a six-run first inning off Nolan Ryan to lead the Boston Red Sox and Mike Torrez to a 9-4 victory over the California Angels. Wayne Gross scored on a late throw by Baltimore first baseman Eddie Murray to break a seventh-inning tie, and then Derek Bryant singled home another Oakland run to give the A's a 5-3 victory over the Orioles. Amos Otis singled in a run and scored another to key Kansas City's five-run rally in the sixth inning, and the Royals went on to beat the Texas Rangers 10-6. The Detroit Tigers rallied for two runs in the eighth inning on RBI singles by Jason Thompson and Lance Parrish to edge the Chicago White Sox 5-4. With seven-hit pitching by Dave Goltz, the Minnesota Twins beat the Toronto Blue Jays 6-1. In the National League, Bill Robinson's tie-breaking home run in the sixth inning helped the Pitt. sburgh Pirates to a 4-2 victory over the Atlanta Braves. Philadelphia's Bake McBride drove in four runs to lead the Phillies and pitcher Steve Carlton to an 11-6 decision over the San Diego. 4 Padres. The win snapped a personal three-game losing streak for Carlton and made him the winningest left-hander in Phillies history, with 133 victories. And in Los Angeles, Bill Russell and Reggie Smith drove in two runs each in the fifth imining to lead the Dodgers to a 5-2 triumph over the New York Mets.

U.N. official slams Rhodesian attacks on refugee camps

ARUSHA, Tanzania, May 8 (R)--The United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees has condemned Rhodesian raids on refugee camps in some black African states.

Mr. Paul Hartling told a refugee conference in this northern Tanzanian town: "I cannot adequately express my revulsion at the loss of innocent life or the way in which refugees in Angola, Mozambique and Zambia, have, time and again, been attacked.

But we can certain that the will of Africa, of the liberation movements and of the refugees, will not be broken. And I would like to say in the clearest terms that you can count on our every effort in the humanitarian field of our work."

Mr. Hartling was talking at the start of a ten-day conference on the plight of Africa's four million refugees which was opend yesterday by Tanzanian President Julius Nverere.

Rhodesia says its raids into the black states are aimed at the camps of guerrillas fighting to overthrow the Salisbury government. It denies attacking refugee camps.

The opening session heard calls for more African states to share the continent's refugee burden.

Mr. Peter Onu, assistant secretary general of the organisation of African Unity (OAU), said 18 of the organisation's 49 members carried 90 per cent of the refugee load. "There is a need for member states to share this burden. They should open their doors in the true African tradition," he said.

President Nyerere said some OAU states in north and west Africa sheltered only a few hundred refugees. He suggested these states should either provide rural refugee settlements or financially help those nations sheltering thousands of refugees.

Carter: U.S. must minimise nuclear power requirements

WASHINGTON, May 8 (R)--President Carter said yesterday United States nuclear power plants must continue to operate, but he promised to steer the country towards alternate energy sources and conservation measures.

Mr. Carter told organisers of an anti-nuclear demonstration, which drew at least 65,000 people to Washington on Sunday, that he was confronted with a difficult problem, and he reviewed the steps being taken to meet it.

President Carter told the organisers of the rally, which was dubbed the "May 6th Coalition": "As you Know, I'm faced with the present situation which requires a careful addressing of a difficult problem.

"The city of Chicago, for example, derives half of its total electricity from nuclear power plants," the president said, "It's out of the question to pre-emptorily shut down all of the nuclear power plants in this country." "We do, however, want to shift toward alternate energy supplies and also a strict conservation commitment to minimise the requirement for the use of nuclear power," Mr. Carter added. Mr. Carter told the rally organisers, representing 90 groups, that the president commission which he appointed following an accident at Pennsylvania's Three Mile Island nuclear power station would be "producing a report without delay which will be of interest on a world-wide basis." He also noted international efforts to control weapons-grade plutonium, which is produced by certain types of nuclear reactors, such as the Clinch River breeder reactor in Tennessee. "We've been fighting ever since I've been in office to kill the Clinch River breeder reactor, which would lock us into a plutonium society," and Tanzania 167,000. Discussion papers prepared for the meeting said Africa's refugees had soared to the four million total from a 1965 figure of 535,000.

Conference sources said that whereas almost all refugees ten years ago had fled from white minority rule in the south, now 80 per cent were from independent black states.

President Nyerere told the delegates: "The refugee problem is not getting smaller. This conference has to deal with a continuing problem and one which will not go away by itself if we do nothing."

He said refugees should never be sent back to the country they had fled. "When a tyrant demands a refugee on the grounds that he or she is a cirminal, there is no justification in humanity for surrendering the person.

"Nor when a refugee offends against the laws or security of the host country is there any excuse for returning him to countries like Smith's Rhodesia, apartheid South Africa or Amin's Uganda."

He said the refugee should either be dealt with in the host country or expelled to another

U.K. firm allegedly 'hijacks' helicopters out of Iran

LONDON, May 8 (R)--A British aircraft firm has secretly hijacked out of Iran 11 jet helicopters it had on contract to the Shah to prevent them from being nationalised by the new revolutionary government there, the Daily Express said today.

London-based Bristow Helicopters said it felt the Bell 212 helicopters, valued at $20 million, it had in Iran were in danger of being seized by the Ayatollah Khomeini government, the paper reported, so "Operation Sandstorm" was devised. The operation's first step was dispatching a team of engineers and a Boeing 747 jumbo jet to Next, the Express said, secret orders were sent to Bristow pilots in Shiraz and Abadan to trick Iranian guards and air controllers to permit the helicopters to take off. The pilots "dune-hopped" the helicopters to the Gulf and then to Dubai. In Dubai, they were dismantled and loaded aboard the 747 for a flight to Luxembourg, where they were then transferred to truck and taken by road and cross-channel ferry to Britain.

There was no immediate comment on the story from Bristow Helicopters. The paper gave no specific time for the hijack operations, and said only it was sometime after March.

EEC meetings to discuss trade, aid, farm modernisation

BRUSSELS, May 8 (R)—Common Market foreign and agriculture ministers hold separate meetings today for talks on trade and aid and farm modernisation within the Community.

Britain's new Foreign Secretary Lord Carrington and Farm Minister Peter Walker, appointed over the weekend following the Conservative Party victory in Thrusday's general election, will not be present. But they are expected to attend informal talks in France in the coming week.

Neither of today's meetings is expected to produce major decisions. Much of the foreign ministers' time will be devoted to the terms the nine will offer 57 African, Caribbean and Pacific (ACP) countries in a new trade and aid pact.

The farm ministers will discuss how to modernise the winegrowing industry and a scheme to stabilise earnings of EEC potato Relations with Turkey, Japan and Romania are on the foreign ministers' agenda, as well as the EEC stand at the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD), which opened yesterday in Manila.

Discussion on Japan will reflect the community's continuing concern at the size of the country's trade surplus with Western Europe, and the Nine are likely to urge Tokyo to commit itself to more generous foreign aid.

EEC diplomats believe now is a good time to put pressure on Japan, on the assumption that Tokyo will want to make a success of the seven-nation summit there on June 28-29. The summit is between the United States, Canada, Britain, West Germany, France, Italy and Japan.

At today's meeting, the foreign ministers will examine ways of compensating ACP countries for unsteady earnings from exports materials such as copper and rubber. The proposals, prepared by the EEC Commission, could run into political difficulties among the Nine, but Common Market officials hope they can agree in time for the May 24-25 ministerial meeting here with the ACP countries.

Uganda to end harsh laws, suspend party politics

NAIROBI, May 8 (R)-The new Ugandan Government will abolish harsh laws imposed by ousted dictator Idi Amin but there will be no party politics of the next two years, Uganda Radio said today quoting government officials.

The radio, monitored in Nairobi, quoted Justice Minister Dan Nabudere as telling a rally at Mbale in eastern Uganda that the rule of law would be restored.

He said that foreigners and mercenaries employed by the Amin regime would not be allowed to return, but he appealed to Ugandans not to indulge in acts of revenge.

The broadcast also quoted the chairman of Uganda's new Consultative Council, Mr. Edward Rugumayo, as telling the same rally that for the next two years there would be no party politics in Uganda.

But he said that the National Liberation Front led by the new president, Dr. Yusufu Lule, would devote the coming two years to creating unity.

The radio said that Amin troops who had surrendered were now living as free citizens. It said the Defence Ministery appealed to any who had not yet given themselves up to do so immediately and urged Ugandans not to harbour

Eastern Europe is now so much in debt to the West that nearly all the countries of the Communist Bloc are having to change their enonomic plans. Some of them are even turning to Western methods.

By Brian Groom

LONDON--Frankness prompted by the need for a $500 million syndicated Euroloan recently caused Poland, Eastern Europe's most indebted country, to reveal that it will have to pay out more than half its hard currency earnings this year simply in interest and repayment charges on a convertible currency debt of just over $15 billion.

It is not alone. Eastern Europe as a whole was in the red, as it were, to the tune of around $47 billion at the end of 1978, according to the usually conservative estimate of the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe.

All is not necessarily gloom behind the Iron Curtain, for although sights are now mostly lowered well below the high targets of the 1971-75 five-year plans, the ECE's prediction of 4.4 per cent growth in real gdp there this year is still higher than the 3.5 per cent forecast for Western Europe. But this is to a large extent the problem. The lower industrial and national income growth targets set for 1979 by all Eastern European Comecon countries except the Soviet Union, Bulgaria and Romania are made necessary largely by the unbalancing effect of sharp growth in the earlier years of the decade, while the West was undergoing substantial deflation and oil and raw materials cost Eastern Europe hoped to finance its growth, sucking in capital goods from the West, by means of boosting exports there. But sluggish export growth and high import levels have led to the build-up of almost universal trade deficits with the West--which are, more than the varying levels of debt, the real culprits of the current troubles.

There are other factors: slow growth of late by the Soviet Union; labour shortages; deteriorating ratios of output to investment and structural probtry and agriculture. Poland has made it clear that it will need to continue borrowing for some time to come. However, Western anxiety about Poland's ability to keep up with debt charges, along with the tendency towards stiffer terms on the loans, has made the Poles take sharp

Steps to curb imports have been under way for some time. 1977 saw a 12 per cent drop in imports from the West and a seven per cent rise in exports there, halving the deficit to $1 billion, according to West Berlin's German Institute of Economic Research.

The target for overall growth in last year's (unfulfilled) target, and a far cry from the average of 9.7 per cent in 1971-75. Investment and imports are both to be lower, with the emphasis on exports and squeezing the most out of existing

The Western banks' willingness to lend a further $500 million and perhaps slightly more is a vote of confidence in Poland's ability to move into external trade surplus by 1981, and continue with surpluses thereafter.

But there are problems. In January Mr. Piotr Jaroszewicz, Poland's premier, said that drastic cuts in imports from the West had cuts in imports from the West had hindered production in many factories. Investment in transport has tories. Investment in transport has reforms designed to standard energy programme needed to out food price subtidies
